MRS. BROKAW WEEPS IN COURT

HI SBAND'S DOCTOR KNEW OF NO IMPROPER ACT OF HERS,

Barring Her Calling Brokaw a Bamned Lar and Inviting Him to Go to Hell-Nothing Definite About Cigarettes and cocktails-Brokaw's Turn To-day. W. Gould Brokaw will testify to-day in the trial in Mineola of the suit of his wife, Mary Blair Brokaw, for separation and 12,500 a month alimony.

Yesterday Dr. Robert E. Pou, who acompanied the Brokaws to Europe, was on the stand for a while, as was Woods, the butler. Woods was telling something about serving eigarettes and cocktails a Mrs. Brokaw's orders while at Fairview Park when court adjourned on Monday, but yesterday he was not willing to sweer that Mrs. Brokaw had smoked any of the cigarettes or drank a cocktail. The most could say was that Miss Lee, the nurse, ordered the cocktails and took them from him when he delivered them at the door the mistress of the house, and that he asked the butler if he recalled half a dozen visits made by Arthur J. Baldwin to the Great Neck house while Brokaw was awa; Baldwin jumped to his feet and asked for an explanation. Bushe said that there was no insinuation of unprofessional action and the matter was that while he was with the Brokaws he saw a great deal of domestic strife. Once Mrs. Brokaw said to him, when he met her roaming about the upper hall at 1 A. M., that she knew Mr. Brokaw and intended watching him.

What did she say to you concerning one of the maids?" Bushe asked the wit-Dr. Pou was not quite certain about the mald having been mentioned, but he said he knew that Mrs. Brokaw was suspicious.

Dr. Pou was asked if he had ever heard Mrs. Brokaw call her husband a damned liar. He said that he certainly had, but he didn't recall it happening more than once. He was asked if there was any trouble between the pair just prior to the sailing of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie in April, 1908, when the Brokaws went to Europe for Mrs. Brokaw's health.

Dr. Pou said that when Mrs. Brokaw earned that Brokew had engaged separate staterooms for himself on the ship she said that she would not go to Europe with her husband under such conditions, and he had some little difficulty in restraining her and keeping her from going ashore. Brokaw's rooms were on the same deck, but forty or fifty feet from Considerable stress had been laid by the plaintiff's counsel on the fact that Mrs. Brokew was requested to keep in her own moms and not to eat at the table in the main dining room. Dr. Pou said that to his knowledge it was necessary for Mrs. Broka w to keep to her rooms several nights because of an attack of appendicitis and that when Mrs. Brokaw reached Paris she was taken

Brokaw locked her door and would not let her husband in her room.

Mcintyre asked Dr. Pou about the tripback to America when Brokaw and his wife were not on speaking terms because she had slammed a door against Brokaw's head in Paris. head in Paris.
"Do you remember that when Mrs.

Brokaw got on the ship she went to the purser, got the mail for the entire party and refused to give it up until one of the ship's officers spoke to her?" Dr. Pou was asked.

Mrs. Brokaw while the question was being put was hammering on the table in front of her to attract the attention of Baldwin, whose back was turned.
Dr. Pou said that he recollected the occasion, and Mrs. Brokaw in a voice that occasion, and Mrs. Brokaw in a voice that was heard all over the room said. "That is a deliberate lie."

Dr. Pou, however, stuck to his statement and averred that he had gone to Mrs. Brokaw's room and aksed her for the mail, which she had retained for at least ten hours. She told him, the witness said, that she would not give Brokaw his mail unless he came to her in person and asked for it. When Brokaw got that information he went to Capt. Hoegemann.

mann.

Baldwin asked the witness if it was not a batch of wireless telegrams sent to Mrs. Brokaw's room late at night that she had kept in her room until morning. Dr. Pou was not sure about telegrams; he was sure about the mail. grams; he was sure about the mail.
Dr. Pou was the only witness who seemed willing to admit that Brokaw occasionally drank. He said that when he was called in too attend Brokaw he told the butler to lock up all liquors so that Brokaw could not get at them.
With regard to Brokaw discharging the nurse because she played on the piano in Mrs. Brokaw's private apartments, Dr. Pou said that he thought the act was unreasonable.

ments, Dr. Pou said that he thought the act was unreasonable.

"Did you ever know Mrs. Brokaw to do anything improper?" asked Baldwin. Dr. Pou said that aside from calling her husband a damned liar and telling him to go to hell he had not.

Mrs. Brokaw had not told Dr. Pou that she would not ride from Tours to Paris with Brokaw driving the machine because Brokaw had been drinking. Brokaw did drive the machine the entire 140 miles and drove it in five hours.

Dr. Pou qualified his statement as to Brokaw's drinking. He said that he did not drink unless he was having a domestic squabble.

squabble.
Olga Olander, who was a chambermaid, never in all her life heard Mr.
Brokaw call Mrs. Brokaw names. Not only that, she never heard him speak harshly to his wife or any one else about the place, but one morning when she went into Mrs. Brokaw's room she did hear Mrs. Brokaw say that she felt like the devil.

Olga was in the habit of taking port ine to Mrs. Brokaw both in a glass and wine to Mrs. Brokaw both in a glass and in a bottle, so that Mrs. Brokaw might have it whenever she wished. Also she was, she said, at Mrs. Brokaw's request, careful not to let the master know anything about it.

floor had been dismantled and said that in half an hour by getting blankets from downstairs and electric light bulbs from the library she could have made theroughs in the bachelor quarters habitable. As the library she could have made therowns in the bachelor (unrivers habitable, as there was steam heat all the time.

Mrs. Brokaw was weeping a good deal yesterday while the forenoon session was in progress. James A. Blair, her father, was not in court at all yesterday. Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Brokaw's mother, was ill and Mr. Blair remained with her. Mrs. Blair, it was said, had pneumonia. The Blair family has been living at Westbury and driving every day to court in a one horse chaise.

chaise.

Justice Putnam vesterday awarded Arthur J. Baldwin $3,000 additional fee as counsel for the plaintiff. Previously the Court had awarded Baldwin $5,000, but counsel said that the hearing had already taken longer than he had expected and that he had been put to additional as counsel the Court but counsel

THE MEANEST SWINDLER.

He Takes a Poor Weman's 84 to Buy as Electric Bell and Walks Away.

Several days ago a newspaper printed the advertisement of a woman who wanted scrubber. She lives in Brooklyn with her sister. A finely dressed man had been ied to understand that the drinks called at her flet, questioned her as were required by Mrs. Brokaw. her capabilities, and finally said: "Come along over to New York and

> On the way over the well a man announced that he was a physician, and said:

"Your sister seems to be in poor health?"
"Oh, yes," replied the woman, "she has been badly off for a number of years."
"What she needs more than anything else," replied the man, "is an electric belt. You come with me and I will get you one."

They visited Perry's pharmacy on Park row. All the money that the woman had was 34, which she handed to the alleged physician with which to buy the belt. Leaving her at the front of the store he sauntered to the rear, ostensibly to get the belt. The woman waited for some time, but the man had left by the rear entrance. rear entrance.

DUCK HUNTERS RESCUED.

ebound Boats Gave Life Savers a Hard Day's Work on Great South Bay. FIRE ISLAND, L. I., Dec. 21. Fire

sland life savers rescued three gunners of Islip, Charles Foley and Frank Slope with the sloop Erwin, and Charles Circle with a catboat, who went duck shooting with the sloop Erwin, and Charles Cinak, with a catboat, who went duck shooting yesterday and were unable to make their way back to Islip through the ice which almost covered the Great South Bay.

Cizak anchored his boat and joined the two men in the sloop, which was also anchored, to spend the night. They had a stove, but nothing to est. Their fuel was soon exhausted and they became very cold and were not able to sleep. The moving ice had carried the sloop two miles during the night.

At daylight this morning the men showed signals of distress and Capt. Doxeec and his crew started with their surf boat, but made slow headway, having to work through ice most of the way. They took the men into their beat and started back, leaving the sloop to take her chances. On the way home they picked up the catboat, which was being rapidly carried up the bay with the tide.

The party landed at 3 P. M., almost played out after a whole day's ice breaking and rowing. The rescued men are being taken care of at the Fire Island life saving station.

Mrs. Brokaw reached Paris she was taken immediately to the hospital. Brokaw was so solicitous for her comfort that he rode to the hospital in the ambulance. The witness seid that on the ship Brokaw was much disturbed and made frequent visits to his, the doctor's, room to agertain Mrs. Brokaw so condition.

"Bid you ever hear Mrs. Brokaw say anything out of the way to her husband?" the witness was asked.

"Lonce heard her tell him to go to hell," said Dr. Pou.

At Tours, Dr. Pou said, Mrs. Brokaw had come to him and told him that she did not intend living another minute with Brokaw. The incident followed a short absence of Brokaw from the hotel at which they were staying. Brokaw said that he and his valet had been to a vaudeville show, but Dr. Pou gathered from what Mrs. Brokaw said that she believed that they had been elsewhere. That night Mrs. Brokaw locked her door and would not be staken to New York, where a second service is to be held in Grace Church chapel. Mr. Cromwell was born in New York, october 6, 1846, and was the son of Charles Thorne Cromwell, a noted New York lawyer of half a century ago. He resided practically all his life in New York and on Long Island with the exceptions of certain be recided when he made Washington bis

He is survived by his wife, one daughter and one son.

Sarah E. Webb, widow of Henry P. Webb, will be buried this afternoon from her late home, 802 Lincoin road, Flatbush, where she died on Sunday in her seventy-fifth year. She was the daughter of Ames F. Hatfield, the first man to run stages on Broadway and president of the Bleecker street horse car line. She was one of the oldest members of the Central Congregational Church.

James W. Bentley, examiner of corporations in the office of the Secretary of State at Albany, died yesterday. He was known to attorneys throughout the country through his long connection with the corporations bureau. He was also a political leader in the Albany County Republican organization.

IRISH PARTY IS ON TOP.

It Controls the House of Commons the lictions last night at the farewell dinner

Martin J. Keogh gave him at the Lotos

Club on the eve of his sailing hiome. One was that the Irish party will have the of Lords will fall of its own accord.

mons and the other that the House

COPPERWENT DOWN ON MURPHY

Needed a City Job.
That Charles F. Murphy was caugh PREDICTS O'CONNOR, M. P., AND long of Amalgamated Copper stock when the market broke after the Standard Oil decision is indicated in a letter to Murphy printed yesterday in William R. Hearst's newspaper. "Phil," who was looking after the account for the boss, Lords Will Be Able Only to Suspend, Not Kill, Legislation—The Party wrote as follows after the break:

NEW YORK, Nov. 23, 1909. find out about copper: so he called me at 11 A. M., and said that it was all right, and It A. M., and said that it was all right, and I suppose he saw Mr. H. H. R. However, it broke five points, to 87%. Also got in touch with Wilson, and he will try and get your tickets. Will wire you just as soon as I key of the situation in the next House of Mr. Cram also told me to-day that he was

Mr. O'Connor contrasted the condiat St. James on Sunday. Will send fis to-night if possible. Yours truly, Path. ions when he first entered Parliament and was not on speaking terms with two More about the job "Jerry" was after nembers outside his own party with the ecognition of wisdom and justice of that is contained in a letter to J. J. Frawley party's ideas that prevails to-day. Some-times he "sighed for the splendid isolation sion. Skelly also tells how Secretary Spencer had the case of an unfit candithose former days," admitted Mr. But whatever happens," said he, "I date reviewed, thereby showing that h think that the Irish party will be in control in the next House. The budget was only one factor in the situation, but it served My DEAR SENATOR: I am delighted to know that you have Mr. Spencer's matter under consideration. I want to tell you another good act on his part in having our a useful purpose, which was to permit the House of Lords to work its own ruin." House of Lords to work its own ruin. An aristocracy usually was killed by its own hand."

The House of Lords has been called the second chamber, continued Mr. O'Connor. I am in favor of two chambers. But hereditary right as a claim to legislative power is, I think, out of date. A member who may be the subject of investigation by the courts for mental vacuity has the right to go down and give a vote which has the power of the vote cast by a strong man, a man who represents 150,000 people. However we may look at it most of the wrongs to Ireland have been inflicted by the class for which the House of Lords stands. The heart of Daniel O'Connell was broken by the House of Lords. I welcome the day when these men by their own suicidal acts are brought before the tribunal of the people. If home rule is to control in the next Parliament, Mr. O'Connor thought that the power of the Lords would be limited to a suspension instead of an absolute veto. They would have to accept a bill sent to them a second time.

"I am a home ruler," he declared. "I want Englishmen to manage theirs. The wrongs of Ireland were not all ancient history, but to-day the schools and the fact that 300,000 more were in a fair way to do so had made a new country of it, and socialism did not threaten it. He would go back to say to Ireland that America was with it in its fight.

There were forty-eight guests to say good-by to Mr. O'Connor. Some of them was a suppersed for Frawley. The letter is as follows:

Element of Lords would be limited to a color of them was a lipid to the commission of the people. "I want Englishmen owned their own land and 200,000 more were in a fair way to do so had made a new country of it, and socialism did not threaten it. He would go back to say to Ireland that America was with it in its fight.

There were forty-eight guests to say good-by to Mr. O'Connor. Some of them was a supposed to the manage their a fair way to do so had made a new country of it, and socialism the new country of it, and socialism the new country of it, An aristocracy usually was killed by its

Mason wrote to murphy telling him that conners was in town and enclosing a clipping to show "the manner of talk he is indulging in."

Col. David C. Robinson of Elmira wrote to Frawley about an expense account which he had prepared for Frawley. The letter is as follows:

FLMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 13, 1909. MY DEAR SENATOR FRAWLEY: I enclose erewith your affidavit drawn as accurately

America was with it in its fight.

There were forty-eight guests to say good-by to Mr. O'Connor. Some of them were Justice Luke D. Stapleton. Mgr. M. J. Lavelle, Mgr. Charles M. McCready, Michael J. Ryan, Nathan Straus, Lawrence Godkin, John Fox, William E. Corey, William McAdoo, Patrick F. Murphy, Orme Wilson, the Rev. Brother J. J. Mullen, John F. O'Rourke, Joseph Byrne, John F. Brennan, John J. Agar, M. M. Looran, Richard McGhee, David McClure, John Delehunty, William T. Emmet, Cesare Conti, William H. Moffatt, William A. Brady, William F. Sheehan, William Ryan and Morgan J. O'Brien. ection. Please read it carefully and also the chedules annexed to it, make any change you wish, swear to it promptly before a notary public or New York commissione of deeds and return to me. Please insert your street number and the amount of our expenses.

I have put in eleven days of travel

P. Sheehan, William Ryan and Morgan J. O'Brien.
Mr. Cockran introduced the guest of the evening. He spoke of the Irish party as ready to stand in the way of any socialistic propaganda and as the only counting New York, and return 188 miles as a single day. I think you can do this and have it allowed. If there is more trave you to add to it with pen.
With kindest personal regards to your self and Mr. Murphy, believe me, faith

"There never was an Irish socialist," said Mr. Cockran. "Their opposition to socialism is instinctive, like their religious faith, rather than intellectual." President Polk of the Municipal Civil BENEFIT FOR T. P.'S FUND.

Service Commission gave out a statement yesterday saying that the letter from Skelly to Frawley did an injustice to Secretary Spencer. "The object of the statement says," and a Speech From Mr. O'Connor.

Eusapia, Paladino, who was to have help him to obtain an office for which be appeared yesterday afternoon at the has not been a candidate at any time."

Mr. Polk says Spencer had nothing to do with the case discussed in the letter and was unaware of any action in the benefit performance given at the New Long Island with the exceptions of certain periods when he made Washington his home. Several months ago he decided to make his home here and purchased a residence.

Mr. Cromwell was a member of the Metropolitan, Union, St. Nicholas and other New York clubs and of the Metropolitan club of this city. He took a deep interest in yachting affairs and was a member of the New York VachtClub. Mr. Cromwell was a lawyer, a graduate of taken place the night before.

Amsterdam Theatre in and of the Irish particular in the matter. The candidate in question is a police sergeant who wants to be a lieutent. The test shows that his sight was the average for a man of his time of life and that there is not the alightest bon explained that on the day following a "trying seance" the Paladino is so The statement concludes:

This commission is striving to do everything in its power to impress all candidates and the public in general with the

**STEAR DEAD.**

**STEA

Sarah E. Webb, widew of Heary P. Webb will be buried this afternoon from her late building about it.

Sarah E. Webb, widew of Heary P. Webb will be buried this afternoon from her late buried this afternoon. Clark the first and the buried this afternoon from her late buried this afternoon from her late buried this afternoon. Sarah E. Webb, was a set buried this afternoon from her late bur hange of Mind After Making Affidavits in Martin Divorce Case-New Paverable to Befendant-One More of the Reven Corespondents Gives Testimony.

WITNESS FOR-BOTH SIDES COURT'S COMMENT ON WOMAN DETECTIVE'S EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Lydia Beckers of 181 Fifth street, New Dorp, Richmond, a private detective who made affidavits for the prosecution the interesting figures yesterday at the trial of the Martin divorce suit before Justice Crane in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. The woman made some horrid statements about the defeudant, Etta H. Martin, in affidavits attested some time ago, but on her own admission these impressions changed mightily after she had had a talk with the defendant and had met Frank H. Morris, the lawyer core

But the change of mind was not entirely change of mind, according to the witess, who said that she had had her doubts bout those affidavits when she was signing them; that these doubts were strengthened by more intimate knowledge of charges they contained, and she added that she was there to tell the truth, as she didn't want to get in trouble by perjuring herself.

This delicacy did not appeal to Justice cane, who said: "I think you have nearly one that already."

Mrs. Beckers testified to occupying Mrs. Beckers testified to occupying a flat across the street from Mrs. Martin's at 1432 Pacific street, but said that the testimony given previously by Doyle and Spatz, her associates, was highly colored and inzocurate. She said that they had spent most of their time drinking and skylsrking, had placed a serious construction on little happenings that seemed very innocent after being explained by Mrs. Martin, and that she thought they had confounded Morris, the corespondent, with a man named Morse who lives in the apartment house at 1432. This man was in court. His resemblance to Morris was calculated to confuse persons watching at a distance, especially if those persons were paying as little attention to their business as Mrs. Beckers said they were.

Another corespondent, Ferdinand C. Iglehart of 215 West Fourteenth street. Manhattan, testified to the innocence of his relations with Mrs. Martin. He said that he had met her when she was 19 years old; that they came to know each other very well, as her father was pastor of the De Kalb Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church and his father had charge of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal Church. He denied that he had called on her after her separation from her husband. He said that they hed entertained an innoher separation from her husband. He said that they had entertained an inno cent friendship for each other.

HARDEN SUCCEEDS M'CARREN Democratic Candidate Elected by About

3,000 Pieratity in a Light Vote. Thomas C. Harden, the Democratic candidate, was elected yesterday at the pecial election held in the Seventh natorial district of Brooklyn to sucseed the late Senator P. H. McCarren who died on October 23. The total numper of votes cast was 12,502, of which Harden received 6,386; John MacCrate, the Republican nominee, 3,381, and John J. Clancy, the Independence League candidate, 2,839. Albert Pauly, Socialist, got 96 votes.

The election passed off without any insidents calling for the interference of the police. Early in the morning Elections Superintendent William Leary, accom-panied by some of his deputies, made a tour of certain lodging houses in the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Assembly districts, which make up the Senatorial district, looking for floaters.

made.
From the time the polls were opened the voting was light. The total enrolled voting strength of the Senatorial district is 19,500. It wasn't until late in the afternoon and about half an hour before the polls closed that many workingmen ap-polls closed that many workingmen appeared. Only about an hour elapsed after the polls were closed before all the returns were in.

The vote by Assembly districts was as follows: Thirteenth—Harden, 2,293; MacCrate, 968; Clancy, 623, and Pauly, 33.

Fourteenth—Harden, 2,146; MacCrate, 806; Clancy, 623, and Pauly, 23.

Fifteenth— Fourteenth—Harden, 2,146; MacCrate, 806; Clancy, 1,337, and Pauly, 23. Fifteenth— Harden, 1,947; MacCrate, 1,807; Clancy, 679, and Pauly, 40. There will be another election for Senator in the same district next year. Harden is a boss truckman, 54 years old, and has never held a public office.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE JOBS. Names Mentioned in Connection With the Beputyships. The Republican managers in Brooklyn expect that Comptroller-elect William A. Prendergast, who has almost entirely recovered from his recent illness, will announce some of his appointments to-day. They also believe that the Hearst organization will be recognized as well as the Republican organizations in the various boroughs in the distribution of the extensive nationage in the Finance Depart boroughs in the distribution of the extensive patronage in the Finance Department.

Some of the politicians believed that Edmund D. Fisher, secretary of the Flatbush Trust Company, and Deputy Attorney-General Ezra D. Prentice were slated for the deputy comptrollerships as the successors of N. Taylor Phillips and John H. McCooey.

Mr. Prentice said last night that Mr. Prendergast had not offered to make film Deputy Comptroller and that even should the place be offered to him he would not accept it. Mr. Prentice added that he wished only to be allowed to serve out his term as Deputy Attorney-General of the State.

PRAISES OUR POLICE.

dmiral von Koester Found Them Splendid-Check From Gen. Carroll. Commissioner Baker received a letter resterday from Gen. Howard Carroll, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Hudson-Fulton celebration, containing his check for $250, to be added to ions of the great celebration the management and conduct of the police force of the city will ever remain prominent with me. As far as I could observe—and I observed closely—the men are of more than ordinary intelligence and good sense. "They were patient and forbearing, frequently under trying conditions. They were quick to meet unexpected emergen-cies and with rare tact and just a sufficent display of strength were ever ready to

"Among those most agreeable recolleccies and with rare tact and just a sufficent display of strength were ever ready to nip in the bud incipient disorder. Their method and manner of handling and dispersing the enormous crowds of people upon the parade days was worthy of the highest praise.

The mounted force is a particularly fine body of men, and I have in lively recollection the magnificent display of horsemanship of the troop which, under the direction of Inspector Beettler, escorted me to the hotel on the day of my arrival.

EALL CARS TRANSFER TO

Courteous is the store service at Bloomingdales'. Sales people are never too busy to give intelligent, quick and proper attention to & Prompt patrons. Delivery is dependable, stocks complete, and merchandise unsurpassed. Conveniences and accommodations, coupled to the fact that it is the easiest store in New York to reach by auto, carriage, car or afoot, rightfully crown Bloomingdales' as the "Store of Certain Satisfaction."

Women's Stockings, pure thread silk, in colors and white, at 79c a pair, or 3 pairs for $2.25 Women's Silk Stockings, pure thread, in black with pure silk feet or cotton soles, at $3.25 Women's Silk Stockings, pure thread, with silk hand embroidery on the instep; a variety of patterns, at $1.98 a pair; 3 pairs for .. $5.75 Women's Stockings, full regular made, liste thread, with deep garter top or of fine gauge cotton, in solid black or with white split $1.40 soles, at 24c a pair, or 6 pairs for ...... $1.40 Women's Stockings, lisle thread, silk embroid-eries, silk clockings, or lace open work, $2.00 at 35c a pair, or 6 pairs for ...... $2.00

BLOOMINGDALES', Lex. to 3d Av., 59th to 60th St.

NOT THE FOREFATHERS' WAY

JUDGE STAFFORD'S TEXT AT DINNER OF 400 PURITANS.

Parefathers Would Have Opposed a Ten dency to Transfer to the Federal Government the Powers Reserved by the Constitution to the States

As Daniel Webster remarked last night on the menu of the New England Society in Brooklyn, "We shall plant here a society n the principles of the fullest liberty and he purest religion, we shall subdue the wilderness which is before us: temples shall rise where now ascends the smoke of idolatrous sacrifice. From the simplicity of our social union there shall arise wise and politic constitutions of government, and our descendants shall look back to this spot and to this hour with unabated affection and regard."

The spot to which Mr. Webster's remarks referred was the new Academy of Music in Brooklyn. Four hundred Puri-tans gathered there last night to celebrate forefathers' day. They had their dinner in the banquet hall behind the first balcony of the new ozera house and afterward they staved around to hear from a number of speakers what it was all about. Elijah R. Kennedy, president of the ociety, was the toastmaster. At his table, besides the speakers, were the Rev. N. Magee Waters, George J. O'Keefe, president of St. Patrick's Society; Sylvanus White, president of the St. Nicholas Society; George E. Miner, Stephen M. Griswold and George G. Reynolds.

Elsewhere were Henry R. Mallory and

Mrs. Mallory, Horace L. Balch, Harold L. Terhune, Andrew Ditmas, Nelson G. Carman, Francis E. Dodge, F. H. Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin, C. Judson Bushnell and Miss Bushnell, Ethan Allen Doty Judge Harrington Putnam and Mrs. Putnam, A. Augustus Healy and Mrs. Healy, Judge Frederick E. Crane and Mrs. Crane, St. Clair McKelway and Mrs. McKelway, Judge Hiram R. Steek and Mrs. Steele, Isaac H. Cary, Sidney V. Lowell, Fred W. Dauchy and Mrs. Dauchy, Desmond Dunne and Mrs. Dunne Henry E. Hutchinson and Mrs. Hutchinson, Horatio M. Adams and Mrs. Adams Darwin R. James Jr., and Mrs. James Clinton L. Rossiter and Mrs. Rossiter, Augustus Van Wyck and Mrs. Van Wyck, Augustus Van Wyck and Mrs. Van Wyck, William Van Wyck, Timothy L. Woodruff and Mrs. Woodruff, William M. Calder and Mrs. Calder, Gen. George W. Wingate and Mrs. Wingate, Joseph H. Sutphin and Miss Dorothy H. Sutphin and Gen. Stillman F. Kneeland.

The first speaker whom Mr. Kennedy introduced was Judge Wendell Phillips Stafford of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Judge Stafford said that the Puritans weren't of the sort that sets much store by beauty and charity despite the romance in which we are apt to hold them nowadays, but that they, stuck by truth to the end.

He declared that such Americans as are advising us to bolster up the powers of the Federal Government in violation of the Constitution are unfaithful to the Puritan ideal of truthfulness. "It is proposed," said he, "to transfer to the central Government certain powers which are expressly reserved to the States, and when the question is asked as to the manner in which the transfer will be accomplished we have the answer, Constructions will be found."

the question is asked as to the manner in which the transfer will be accomplished we have the answer. 'Constructions will be found.

"When we learn that constructions will be found by the prevailing party elsewhere than in the text of the Constitution itself. That means that there is no end of governmental powers which may be added to those already enjoyed by the Federal Government. I am not raising the question as to the advisability or the inadvisability of amending the Constitution. I am raising the question as to how changes shall be accomplished.

"A debaser of words is guiltler than he who debases the coinage. If changes are read into the Constitution through perverse interpretations of its text the manipulator is more reprehensible than the trifler with the coinage."

Mr. Kennedy said that Mr. Calder and Mr. Woodruff had tried to land President Taft for the dinner, but that despite Mr. Taft's record he couldn't be got to come. Senator Borah had accepted but at the last moment telegraphed that he couldn't be present. The Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis took both their places.

Other speakers were Prof. Paul Shorey and Charles Battell Loomis. Mr. Loomis spoke gloomily about New England as seen from Leonia, N. J.

the police pension fund, and this quotation from a letter received by him from Grand Admiral you Koester:

PERMANENT UNIFORM BOARD.

National Guard Officers Named to Keep National Guard Officers Named to Keep Tabs on Regular Army Uniforms.

ALBANY Dec. 21 .- Adjt.-Gen. Henry. announced to-day that Gov. Hughes, announced to-day that Gov. Hughes, on the recommendation of Major-Gen. Roe, commanding the National Guard had selected a permanent uniform board for the National Guard to consider all changes in uniform. It is to keep informed of the changes made by the United States army and make those of the National Guard conform as nearly as possible to the army. The officers are Col. M. M. Dunspaugh, Assistant Adjutant-General; Lieut.-Col. William H. Chapin, Inspector-General National Guard; Lieut.-Col. George A. Wingate, Adjutant-General Second brigade; Lieut.-Col. Chauncey P. Williams, Adjutant-General National Guard.

Chairman Conners in Albany. ALBANY, Dec. 21 .- Democratic State Chairman William J. Conners of Buffalo was in Albany to-day and attended a meeting of officers of the Democratic State Editorial Association. He declined to talk politics.

Upper Hudson Navigation Closed.

ALBANY, Dec. 21.—To-day marked the closing of navigation on the upper Hudson River. The season has been longer than any for ten years past.

MAKING ARREST COSTLY. Young Woman Recovers From Patte

and Somniferous Completeant.

A jury before Supreme Court Jus Amend returned a verdict for $1,000 to a Amend returned a verdict for $1,000 in a suit for $10,000 for false arrest brought by Amanda St. George against Charles G. Waldron and Policeman Francis Campbell of the West 100th street station. The young woman testified that she had to spend a night in a police station because when she found a strange man sleeping on a couch in her apartment she covered him up so that he wouldn't take cold. Shortly afterward the same man, who had waked up and gone out, came back with morning.

SPECIAL Wednesday, Dec. 22nd

19 Jewels "Riverside" Gold Filled Guaranteed

We will offer seventy-five of the well-known 19-jewel Riverside grade Waltham watches on the above date. There is probably no better known watch in America than this one; it is the pet of the trust. They have spent millions of dellars advertising it., The Trust price is $42.00 for the move-trust. They have spent millions of dollars advertising it., The Trust price is $42.00 for the movement alone in the Watch Trust's catalog, which every jeweller has and will show you.

The very lowest price any jeweller can accept is $28.50 for the movement alone. On the above date we offer them at $15 each in a guaranteed gold-filled case, all regulated and ready for the pocket. Take it all in all, this is one of the most remarkable offers we have made in some time, as Trust Jewellers have no trouble in getting $25.50 for the movements alone, and they are usually scarce in the market at that on account of the demand by railroad officults, who use them in preference to all others. Every one will be sold with the distinct understanding that the money will be refunded if this "Riverside" grade movement can be purchased elsewhere for less than $25.50 without a case of any sort. It days' trial will be allowed every purchaser, no dealers supplied or mail orders filied.

Trust Specials Price $70.00 22-Jewel Maximus, $48.83 40.00 23-Jewel Maximus, $48.83 40.00 23-Jewel Vanguard, $25,36 $31.50 21-Jewel Price $18.00 16-Jewel Lady Waltham my 1512.00 17-Jewel P. S. Bart $7.20 19-Jewel P. S. Bart $7.20 19-Jewel Vanguard, $25.36 $31.00 21-Jewel P. S. Bart $7.20 $40.00 23-Jewel Veritas, $25.36 $31.00 21-Jewel P. S. Bart $7.20 $25.36 $31.00 21-Jewel P. S. Bart $7.20 $3

FREE On this date we will present FREE to every watch purchaser a Peraglic Patent Watch Protector. It prevents This, in a sense, is almost as valuable as the watch itself.

CHARLES A. KEENE Importer Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry 180 Broadway, New York Open Evenings Until Christmas

> There is much sold that is not real cut glass-

Dorflinger's

is always genuine—hand made and hand cut.

